

Regular cleaning for oiled Berg & Berg floors

We recommend using a mop with a cotton cover. Before first use, the cotton cover must soak in water for a few minutes. The mop is then ready for use.

The soap solution is obtained by adding wood floor soap to the mop water. For more protection, oil soap can be used as an alternative.

How to keep your floor in shape

- Use a good door mat at all entries and keep away abrasive dirt from the floor.
- Regularly clean the floor by vacuuming or sweeping.
- All furniture must have clean felt floor protectors or soft furniture castors suitable for parquet flooring.
- Prevent moisture and moisture accumulation, e.g. by coasters under flower pots. Do not leave puddles.
- Maintain a healthy indoor climate: 35 – 65% relative humidity / 18 – 22°C room temperature.
- Adhering dirt shall always be damp wiped.

1. Wash with soap water

Dip the mop into the bucket with soapwater, wring it out lightly and mop the floor until any dirt gently releases from the surface.

2. Remove dirty soapwater

Absorb the dirty water with the mop from the floor, flush the mop in clear water and squeeze it out well.

3. Leave a clean soap protection

Soak the mop in soapwater again and wring it out. Wipe the floor with it evenly and then let the surface dry.

Remark

Do not wipe with clear water only and do not leave any puddles.

If necessary, the water in the buckets should be renewed so that there will be no dirty water spread on the floor. For small areas and low soiling, a single bucket with soapwater is sufficient. For larger areas, it is convenient to use a trolley with two buckets.
